4. Terms Applying to Transfer

- a. The Energy Contract(s) in section 1 will be transferred from the Existing Account Holder in section 2 to the New Account Holder in section 3 on the terms of this Application Form. The terms and conditions of the original Energy Contract (including the Market Offer, the Price List and the Market Contract Conditions) will continue to apply to the New Account Holder once transferred. - b. The New Account Holder has the right to cancel its agreement to transfer the Energy Contract under this Application Form within 10 clear business days from the date this Application Form is signed by the New Account Holder ('cooling-off period'). The Existing Account Holder will continue to be liable for all obligations and liabilities under the Energy Contract unless and until the cooling-off period expires without cancellation.
- c. The Energy Contract is taken to be transferred on the Date of Transfer in section 1 if the New Account Holder does not cancel its agreement to transfer within the cooling-off period. From the Date of Transfer, the New Account Holder will be legally entitled to all rights, and be responsible for all obligations and liabilities, under the Energy Contract for the period from the Date of Transfer until expiry or cancellation of the Energy Contract. The Existing Account Holder will cease to be a party to the Energy Contract from the Date of Transfer. The Existing Account Holder will continue to be responsible for all obligations and liabilities under the Energy Contract incurred before the Date of Transfer.
- d. If the New Account Holder cancels its agreement to transfer within the cooling-off period, the Energy Contract will not be transferred and the Existing Account Holder will continue to be responsible for all obligations and liabilities under the Energy Contract.
